Giving up smoking is always a matter of willpower. This applies to the vast majority of patients treated, after only a single treatment. It makes no difference how many cigarettes you smoke or how long you have been a smoker, and your age and sex are irrelevant.

Is a single NeuraSan® the therapy to break the smoking habit treatment enough?

In spite of the high success rate I have achieved with NeuraSan® up to now, a small percentage of the patients treated, irrespective of which criteria they match, do not experience the effect at this direct level. For these patients, a single treatment is not enough. They require one or two additional treatments.

Important note: during this time it is not permitted to consume nicotine in any form at all.

Additional treatment means that the patient receives an higher dose of NeuraSan® therapeutic substance.

Please bear in mind that you may not smoke between the individual treatments! Only then can I guarantee to turn you into a non-smoker.

When do you need an additional treatment?

Only if after the initial NeuraSan® injection you should experience problems and therefore withdrawal symptoms such as: nervousness or poor concentration, aggression in the form of angry outbursts, depression in the form of weeping fits, involuntary urges to over-eat, a strong craving for cigarettes (thinking about them all day long; seeing cigarettes where there are none, etc.). If any of these symptoms should appear, come for an additional treatment immediately. You can always make an appointment with us at short notice!

What are the ingredients of NeuraSan® the therapy to break the smoking habit?

The therapeutic substance of NeuraSan® contains nothing but homeopathic active substances and is made according to my own personal composition. NeuraSan® administration is accompanied by a 0.5% local anaesthetic, making it possible for the patient to receive a pain-free injection. For treatment with NeuraSan®, the so-called ideal NeuraSan® points are activated by an injection into the patient's outer ear. Unlike various imitators, the NeuraSan® therapy is not simply a local anaesthetic with no active substances, but rather a pure, herbal therapeutic substance. NeuraSan® can, of course, be injected without a local anaesthetic, should you so wish.

Only the original NeuraSan® therapy will help you to win the battle against nicotine addiction successfully.

Does NeuraSan® the therapy to break the smoking habit have any side effects?

NeuraSan® can have side effects, but not necessarily everyone who uses it will experience them. A possible side effect is having a dry mouth.

In rare cases, a local allergy-like reaction may occur on the outer ear in the form of inflamed, red skin, itchiness or blistering. Swelling, red skin or haematoma may occur due to the intracutaneous injection. Note: when using homeopathic medicines, the existing discomforts can temporarily get worse (initial worsening). If this is the case, then you should inform your therapist. Due to a fundamental lack of experience, the NeuraSan® therapy is not used on patients undergoing chemotherapy or radiotherapy, or on those undergoing antibiotic therapy with penicillin (this means that you are taking penicillin at the time of treatment, e.g. due to an infection).

It is a well-known fact in homeopathy that the effect of a homeopathic medicine can be adversely affected by general harmful factors due to one's lifestyle and by irritants or stimulants such as coffee, alcohol and essential oils. Should you be concerned by any of these factors, please ask your therapist for advice. Due to insufficient experience, the NeuraSan® therapy is not used during pregnancy or breastfeeding.
